VOLUME 36 NO 8

RESIDENTS' ACTIVITY CLUB (RAC) UPDATE

Anna Syjud, President

Hello from Michigan. While most of the country is having very warm weather, it's been lovely here in Michigan. We've had some much-needed rain that has helped our farmers, and we're looking forward to the sweet corn and vegetables.

Dianne and crew are doing a fantastic job with the "Summer Series" events; there have been great turnouts. The next event is August 19th with food and great entertainment.

It's hard to believe summer is half over. It has been great seeing photos of all the activities and changes happening around our community.

Have a great August and stay cool.

Sincerely,
Anna

CLVII RAC Board of Directors: Anna Syjud - President, Dianne Meyaard - Vice President, Judy Faries – Treasurer, Lisa Eurick - Secretary, Directors: Kevin Karcher, Deb Williams, Dave Magne, Dale Dougherty, Jacquie Weigand

FROM THE MANAGEMENT

There are vehicles being stored at the CLV 1 storage lot with expired registrations that need to be brought up to date. Please take care of this as soon as possible.

Armadillos are a problem that is often reported at CLV. They are looking for insects or worms and the best way to rid them from your yard is to repel them with scents that they hate. You can go with Mole Max, a commercial product that is at Home Depot. It worked for me, but it's expensive at around $25. Epsom salts, cayenne pepper, pine, castor oil and vinegar are also effective. These strong smells will overwhelm their nose, repelling them from the area. Google it for the recipes, as trapping them isn't an option.

Please do not feed the alligators or disturb them in any way. Doing so will result in them being removed for safety reasons as had to be done in the past.

Both clubhouses have been painted with the office being next. Touch up is scheduled and the office will be done soon. The CLV 2 library will hopefully be completed soon. Staff will be painting the decks under entries and pool areas where needed. There should only be a minor inconvenience associated with that work as paint dries pretty fast. Please be patient as we near the finish line on most improvements. There are still improvements to complete, but the accomplishments in the first year are impressive.

The gate plans are being finalized with the engineer and are forthcoming. I will update with further information as I receive it.

I hope you all have a safe summer.

Terry West

NOTES FROM THE EDITOR

With the dog days of summer upon us, I felt it was necessary to include in this newsletter a tip sheet from HealthinAging.org titled "Hot Weather Safety Tips for Older Adults". While most of those tips seem like just plain common sense to those of us who have some experience with the Florida heat, the back side of the sheet points out the differences between dehydration, heat exhaustion, heat stroke, etc. That's good information to have handy if you're someone who doesn't slow down just because it's summer (you know who you are!).

Well folks, as much as I have enjoyed my short tenure as editor for the Village Voice (this is my 17th issue), I find that life has taken me in another direction, and I'll be handing over the reins to Deb Williams next month. Deb is a long-time resident and has been very involved in our community over the years. I'm confident the Voice will be in good hands!

Please continue to provide your feedback and suggestions. Putting out the newsletter is truly a community effort, as we depend on content, pictures, resident data, event and activity information, proofreading, and input from YOU, friends and neighbors. The editor's job is merely to put it all together. Of course, sometimes that's a bit like trying to herd squirrels, but as I said it's been fun!

Thanks for your support,

Deb Autry

SUNSHINE CORNER

Peggy Seiler, Coordinator

Whenever we hear the sound of an ambulance coming down Lakeside our hearts take a skip as we wonder where it is going in our community and who may be ill or in trouble. Such was that sound on June 16th as Dick Evanson was transported to the hospital. Sadly, Dick did not return to his home but passed away on June 23rd. It has meant much to his wife, Helen, that many have been there for her in this sorrowful time. She is very grateful for the Sunshine Card that she received from all of us.

Connie Hamilton received her card and last we knew she was doing well and is now living elsewhere. Deb Williams had a repeat surgery, and it has not been an easy time for her. Dave Nolte spent some time in the hospital and last report was that he was stable, and we wish him well.

Yes, life has its challenges here in our community, and not all folk are mentioned, but many get cards, visits, and are prayed for. Thanks to all that help me to let this community know that we really do care about each other. We do this TOGETHER and that makes our community a special community of caring people. Please note that I am away in August. My contact: 941-217-9384. Please do not hesitate to call me and we'll do our best to get a Sunshine Card to anyone in need of one.

Thank you and Blessings,

Peggy

Hot Weather Safety Tips for Older Adults

While summer brings us warmth and bloom, prolonged exposure to excessive heat in summer months can be dangerous. This is especially true for older adults. Every summer, more than 600 Americans die of health problems caused by excessive heat and humidity. Older adults and individuals with chronic medical conditions are at high risk of developing heat-related illnesses, because of aging-related physical changes in the body, chronic health conditions, and even effects of taking some medications.

Staying Safe When It's Too Darn Hot

80°

When the temperature climbs above 80°F, older adults need to be proactive and take precautions to avoid ailments due to excessive heat. Keep in mind the following tips when trying to stay cool.

■ STAY AWAY from direct sun exposure as much as possible. If possible, plan your outdoor activities either early in the morning or when the sun starts to set.

■ STAY HYDRATED. Drink plenty of cool water, clear juices, and other liquids that don't contain alcohol or caffeine. Alcohol and caffeine cause you to lose water in your body by making you urinate more.

■ DRESS APPROPRIATELY.

Whenever you can, try wearing loose, light-colored clothes. Avoid dark-colored clothes as they may absorb heat. Top it off with a lightweight, broad-brimmed hat and you are dressing like a pro! These simple changes will help you both stay cool and avoid sunburn.

■ AIR CONDITIONING is your friend in summer. Spend as much time as possible in air conditioned spaces. If you don't have an air conditioner, go somewhere that is air-conditioned. For example, you may read a book at the library, walk around in indoor malls, watch that new movie at the theater, or meet your friends at the senior center. (Note: The federal Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) helps adults 65 and older who have limited incomes cover the cost of air conditioners and utility bills. To reach your state's LIHEAP program, call 1-866-674-6327.)

■ DID SOMEONE SAY SUNBURN? Buy a broad spectrum sunscreen lotion or spray with sun protection factor (SPF) of 15 or higher. Apply the sunscreen liberally to all exposed skin. Also, bugs are abundant in summer, so spray insect repellent when going outdoors.

■ COOL DOWN! Take tepid (not too cold or too hot) showers, baths, or sponge baths when you're feeling warm. Don't have the time? Then wet washcloths or towels with cool water and put them on your wrists, ankles, armpits, and neck.

How to Spot and Treat Health Problems Caused by Heat

It's important to recognize when hot weather is making you sick, and when to get help. Here's a list of health problems caused by exposure to too much heat:

Dehydration

What it is: A loss of water in your body. It can be serious if not treated.

Warning signs: Weakness, headache, muscle cramps, dizziness, confusion, and passing out.

What to do: Drink plenty of water and, if possible, sports drinks such as Gatorade™, which contain important salts called "electrolytes." Among other things, electrolytes play a key role in regulating your heartbeat. Your body loses electrolytes when you're dehydrated. If you don't feel better, call 911. If you feel better after drinking fluids, but have medical conditions like heart failure or take diuretics ("water pills"), you should also call your healthcare provider for a follow-up.

Heat stroke

What it is: A very dangerous rise in your body temperature, which may happen gradually over days of heat exposure in older adults. It can be deadly.

Warning signs: A body temperature of 104°F (40°C) or higher; red, hot, and dry skin; a fast pulse; headache; dizziness; nausea or vomiting; confusion or lethargy; and passing out.

What to do: Call 911 immediately. Move to a cool, shady place and take off or loosen heavy clothes. If possible, douse yourself with cool water, or put cloths soaked with cool water on your wrists, ankles, armpits, and neck to lower your temperature. Try to see if you can safely swallow water or sports drinks while waiting for 911.

Note: If you are caring for someone else who has heat stroke, only give them water or drinks if they are awake and can swallow. Do not try to give fluids by mouth if the person is drowsy, as it could cause choking.

Heat exhaustion

What it is: A serious health problem caused by too much heat and dehydration. If not treated, it may lead to heat stroke (see above).

Warning signs: Heavy sweating or no sweating, muscle cramps, tiredness, weakness, paleness, cold or clammy skin, dizziness, headache, nausea or vomiting, fast and weak pulse, fainting. Body temperature is generally between 98.6°F (37°C) and 104°F (40°C).

What to do: Without delay, move to a cool, shady place, and drink plenty of cool fluids, such as water or sports drinks. Call 911 right away if you have high blood pressure or heart problems, or if you don't feel better quickly after moving to the shade and drinking liquids.

Heat syncope

What it is: Fainting caused by high temperatures.

Warning signs: Dizziness or fainting.

What to do: Lie down and put your feet up, and drink plenty of water and other cool fluids.

DID YOU KNOW ?

You can hear cauliflower growing.

To most grocery shoppers, there's nothing particularly exciting about cauliflower. While the dense and crunchy stalks of this cruciferous plant are great as a side dish or snack, they're consumed far less than the most popular produce-aisle picks (potatoes, tomatoes, and onions). However, some farmers might say that cauliflower has at least one unique and unexpected property that's worth your attention: If you listen closely, you can hear it growing.

While most plants are silent, cauliflower is able to eke out a barely audible sound thanks to how quickly it grows. The vegetable can add as much as 1 inch per day under the right growing conditions. That rapid expansion means the florets of the plant's popcorn-like heads often rub against one another as they grow, creating a noise many farmers call "cauliflower creak." Some agriculturalists describe the tone as a soft squeak, while others say it's best described as the faint popping noise made by Rice Krispies cereal when doused in milk. However, there are occasions when cauliflower fields reach a more detectable decibel, like in 2015, when British farmers were graced with optimal weather conditions for their cauliflower harvests. That year, some cauliflower cultivators alerted vegetable enthusiasts to what they believed would be the loudest cauliflower creak in decades.
